FEDERAL UNIVERSAL SERVICE FUND (FUSF)

The Federal Universal Service Fund (FUSF) surcharge is billed at the FUSF rate established by the FCC. The rate changes from time to time, generally on a quarterly basis. It is a regulatory charge, not a tax. The current FUSF surcharge and previous quarterly rates can be found at Contribution Factors - Universal Service Administrative Company \(usac.org\). The FUSF surcharge applies to telecommunications services subject to direct regulation by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), as well as to interconnected VoIP. A Customer will not be required to pay the FUSF if it demonstrates to the Company's reasonable satisfaction that it is acquiring the Company's services for resale, i.e., not for its own internal use, and is contributing directly into the government's Universal Service funding programs.

The FUSF will: (i) be calculated after the application of promotional and other discounts; (ii) not be eligible to receive promotional or any other discounts; (iii) not be included to determine satisfaction of usage volume requirements; (iv) be calculated based upon the rates and charges applicable to the Customer's total interstate and international service, unless otherwise specified; (v) apply to tax-like and/or tax-related surcharges as defined or described herein.

Universal Service is a Federal Communications Commission (FCC) program designed to ensure affordable access to telecommunications services to low-income customers, rural areas, school and libraries, and rural healthcare facilities. The FUSF was established by Congress in order to promote and encourage telecommunications infrastructure and service availability nationwide. The FCC is the agency responsible for the regulation of domestic interstate and U.S.-to-international telecommunications services.

All telecommunications providers that offer interstate and international data, private line, and other regulated services in the United States are required by the FCC to contribute on an equitable and nondiscriminatory basis to the FUSF.

This includes customers whose circuits with the Company have only one end-point in the United States, even if that circuit is being cross-connected by the customer ultimately to terminate internationally.

Interstate circuits have FUSF applied to 100% of the revenue if both ends of the circuit are within the United States.

International circuits have FUSF applied to 50% of the revenue when only one end-point is in the United States.

Taxes generally are assessed on the FUSF surcharge. It is important to understand that the FUSF surcharge is not a tax. It is a charge that the government imposes on telecommunications carriers on the voice and data revenues they collect. The FCC allows carriers to recover the cost of the surcharge from its end-user customers. Thus, the FUSF surcharge is not considered a tax and must be taxed as normal revenues.

In some situations, certain customers may be exempt from certain taxes and governmental surcharges. This is usually in the case of customers who are reselling the services they purchase or customers who are exempt charitable, government or religious organizations.

The Company does not determine a customer's tax-exempt status. It is the customer's responsibility to advise the Company of its tax-exempt status.

The Company will bill tax and surcharges until proper notice of exempt status and properly executed exemption documentation is provided.

The Surcharges discussed in the following section are not covered by the standard exemption policy described above. Combined federal, state and local taxes, fees and surcharges can range from 0-50+%.

OTHER SURCHARGES

In addition to FUSF, federal, state and local taxes, fees and surcharges discussed above, the Company charges the following surcharges to recover fees imposed on the company for doing business in certain jurisdictions.

- Property Surcharge
- Cost Recovery Fee

These surcharges are associated with certain taxes and fees imposed on the Company and are both consistent with our customer agreements and standard industry practice. These fees are allowed under our standard customer contracts and many carriers recover these fees in the form of surcharges.

PROPERTY SURCHARGE

A property surcharge will apply in addition to other service charges, equal to 5.90% of the total intrastate, interstate, international, and unregulated charges (including usage and non-usage charges) after the application of applicable discounts and credits. This surcharge is not a government-imposed charge and is intended to recover a portion of the Company's costs to build, operate, and maintain its network infrastructure, including property taxes and other costs associated with that infrastructure. Federal Universal Service Fund (FUSF) and other applicable fees and surcharges may apply to this surcharge.

COST RECOVERY FEE

A surcharge of up to 5% of all applicable charges appearing on a customer's invoice will apply to intrastate, interstate and international telecommunications services. This fee is not a tax or government charge but recovers costs the Company incurs for expenses such as, but not limited to, federal and state regulatory and license fees, fees to fund telecommunications services for the speech and hearing-impaired and costs associated with North American Numbering Plan administration imposed on the Company and its affiliates. Federal Universal Service Fund (FUSF) and other taxes, fees and surcharges may apply to the fee. The cost recovery fee is updated quarterly.
